GOVERNMENT MAY BRING PEACE

Rumor of a Plan to Reopen Negotiations.

THE REPORT IS NOT OFFICIAL

AMALGAMATED MEN DEPEND ON THE FEDERATION.

Through This Source They Hope to Obtain the Sine of War to Carry on Their Fight With the Steel Trust.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 9.—It is reported that President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor has a plan of discussing the situation with the steel officials with a view to bringing about a settlement of the strike, but the story cannot be confirmed.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 9.—The steel strike situation underwent but little change over night. The steel corporation made no attempt during the night to reopen the Painesville mill, and the strikers claim that they blocked the plan to start the plant by winning over the nonunion men who had agreed to go to work. The mill officials deny that there has been any interference with their plans, and say that in due time the mill will be started.

President Shaffer and the officials of the Amalgamated Association are still engaged on the effort to secure the cooperation of the American Federation of Labor, but they say they are sure of obtaining it, and that their complete success is thereby assured. Neither President Shaffer nor President Gompers, nor any of the men engaged in conference with them, has given any indication of their plans, but it is predicted that they will make the bold stroke of transferring bodily to the Amalgamated Association all members of the Federation of Labor who may be transferred to the former.

If such a plan were carried out it would add thousands of men to membership in the Amalgamated Association.

Power of the Labor Federation.

A prominent official of the American Federation of Labor gives out the following, in reference to the power of the American Federation of Labor to assist the iron and steel workers who are now on strike.

There is great misapprehension in the public mind regarding the position of the American Federation of Labor to assist the iron and steel workers who are now on strike. At the present time the American Federation of Labor has no power to assist the iron and steel workers who are now on strike. It is assumed by many that the American Federation of Labor has the power to order its other trade unions on strike to assist the Amalgamated Association and the Federation of Labor, but this is not the case, though the American Federation of Labor has a large number of men who doubtless exert all that power to help the iron and steel workers.

In the first place, the constitution of the American Federation of Labor guarantees to each affiliated trade complete trade autonomy.

How Money Is Raised.

"The public, generally, thinks that the American Federation of Labor can support its affiliated unions with great financial backing. This is not the case. The money seen by article 10, section 1, of its constitution. The executive council shall have power to declare a levy of one cent per member per week on all affiliated unions for a period of not more than six weeks in any one year, to assist in the support of an affiliated organization engaged in a protracted strike or lockout. Counting the membership of the American Federation of Labor, the maximum amount possible to raise in this way is $150,000. Half of this amount has been ordered raised, however, to assist the machinists in the nine-hour strike, which began May 1, 1900, and the American Federation of Labor has the power to raise $75,000 to help the striking iron and steel workers.

"Last year a two-cent assessment to help the striking clear-makers produced only $20,000. The American Federation of Labor for the year ending Nov. 1, 1900, was $100,000, and the funds on hand Nov. 1, 1900, were $12,000.

"It must not be forgotten, however, that a request from the American Federation of Labor to affiliated unions to go on a sympathy strike would have a very great effect. In nine cases out of ten the request would be granted. Furthermore, the American Federation of Labor has a large fund for funds to help in a strike against capital could be safely calculated upon to bring forth a generous response, even greater than the letter of the law would demand.

"President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor is merely an executive official. He carries out the policy of the executive council. His only power lies in his personal influence with the members of the executive council, and the right which article 8, section 4, of the constitution gives him to call meetings of the executive council when necessary."

President Gompers and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor reached strike headquarters at 10 o'clock. Mr. Gompers was met by a large number of the strikers, and the attitude of the Federation about the possible outcome of the conference.

President Shaffer reached the headquarters at 10:30 o'clock and announced a few moments later that his conference with President Gompers was off until 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

"Is it possible that the Federation of Labor will turn over to the Amalgamated Association all its judges affected by the strike?" President Shaffer was asked.

"That is a question which I cannot answer," said Mr. Shaffer. "You will have to get that from Mr. Gompers. There is nothing about the strike that I can tell you."

KILLED BY LIGHTNING FLASH.

Brilliant Miss Seelye Found Dead Beside a Precipice.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 9.—It is now believed that Miss Allegra Eggleston Seelye, who was found dead at the edge of Fall Creek gorge, was killed by a flash of lightning. Her body was hanging by the feet, which were entangled in a bunch of roots.

Miss Seelye was a granddaughter of Edward Eggleston, the historian and novelist. She was graduated from Cornell in 1890 and was a member of the Kappa Gamma Fraternity. She was noted for proficiency in her family home in University Heights, Ithaca, while the rest of the family were at their summer home, Lake George. She had been entertaining a house party of afterwards went for a walk. The supposition is that Miss Seelye met her death while seeking shelter from a storm.

CITY PAYROLL SHOWS A DECREASE ACCOMPLISHED IN THREE MONTHS OF $46,000 SINCE ONE YEAR AGO

Of This Amount About $40,000 Has Been Deducted From the Street Department, Resulting in the Almost Total Abandonment of Work.

In his recent message to the Municipal Assembly Mayor Wells urges economy in all municipal departments.

An examination of municipal payrolls, made by the Post-Dispatch in the office of Auditor Dierkes, shows that the mayor's recommendation has been placed in practical application principally in the street department.

A comparison of the city payrolls for July, 1901, with those of the same month in 1900 shows that a reduction of nearly $46,000 has been made in the city's salary list, and that about $40,000 of this amount has been taken from the street department.

The difference between the months of April, May and June, 1901, and the same months in the previous year amounts to $7,753.33, an average of more than $25,000 a month. In the month of July, most of this amount has come from the street department.

Many Salaries Have Been Cut Off.

Part of the reduction in street department expenses means a cutting off of salaries more or less superfluous. A larger part signifies the discharge of laborers and the reduction of the number of men employed in the work of the department.

July, 1901, was the last month when the street department was run at its full capacity. In the first week in August the laboring men were discharged and the force of superintendents and inspectors was greatly reduced.

At the close of the present month, when the August payrolls have been made up, a comparison can be made which will show more nearly than that of previous months the reduction of the general payroll.

For July the departments, aside from the street department, which show a decrease from the salary rolls of a year before are:

Police Department, $1,000; Fire Department, $1,000; Public Works, $1,000; and the City Engineer's Office, $1,000.

Those of the building commissioner, the election board, the license collector, the lighting superintendent, the fire alarm telegraph superintendent, the city hall commission, the park commissioner, the sewer commissioner and the water commissioner.

The reduction in the license department amounts to $7,750 per month, in the election board $115, in the fire alarm telegraph $400, in the sewer department $150, in the park department $25, and in the city hall commission $50.

Several Branches of Work Stopped.

The street department reductions, most of which represent total abandonment of the work in the branches named, are classified as follows:

Bridges and culverts, $200; street cleaning, $200; block system, $248; street cleaning, $200; commissioner's office, $616; street repairs, $4,890.

The city payroll for July amounts to $15,000, as compared with $30,000 in 1900, leaving a margin of $15,000 in favor of the present year.

The reduction in the office forces of the building commissioner and lighting superintendent were made because of lack of money for these departments in the month of July, most of the departments say that more men are absolutely needed in order to do the work required.

The cut in the license department results from the passage of a new law relative to the office and will not be a permanent reduction, as a bill increasing the number of inspectors in the department has passed the Assembly and the new clerks have been put to work.

The cut in the sewer department leaves enough men to do the work now on hand. If and when necessary to carry on the sewer work, are voted by the people, Commissioner Hermann says that his force will have to be restored to its former proportions.

The decision in the mandamus suit of three former building inspectors against the Building Commissioner Longfellow, which will be decided in a few days, will make it possible to cut the payroll in various departments, if the heads of the departments find it possible to spare any of their present employees.

WOMAN BEAT CHILD HE WANTS THE CHILD

MRS. BLAZIE WAS FINED $100 FOR OFFENSE.

CHILD HAD BEEN ADOPTED

Love of Husband for Little One Enraged Her—Hated Vented Itself in Beating.

Because her husband loved a 3-year-old daughter, which she had adopted, Mrs. Catherine Blazie of Belleville hated the child.

In her hatred she beat the little one. She admitted that she had done so in the court of Magistrate Carson at Belleville Thursday afternoon and was fined $100 for her conduct.

She had the expectation that State's Attorney Farmer will take the case before the grand jury.

The confession of Mrs. Blazie shocked all who heard it. She admitted that she had beaten the child several times and that she could get her hands on when the little one was alone.

She had broken the child's arm and had covered its body with bruises.

In the first place, she had a few days ago to treat the child. He was told that to treat from a wagon. He found her in the street and took her to his home.

Chief of Police Heintzelman and State's Attorney Farmer were called and a warrant was sworn out, charging the woman with assault.

When the case was called Thursday afternoon in the court of Magistrate Carson, she entered a plea of not guilty.

The child is still at the hospital. She will be taken back by the orphan society from which she was obtained.

LONG LITIGATION IN SIGHT

Case of Mrs. Emma Farmer vs. Dr. H. B. Farmer for Wife Abandonment Is Under Way.

The case of Dr. Henry B. Farmer, on the charge of abandoning his wife, Mrs. Emma Farmer, was called Friday afternoon in the court of Justice McKane at East St. Louis. A continuance was asked.

The proceedings will probably come to an abrupt termination. Proof will be offered that Dr. Farmer is not the husband of Mrs. Farmer.

A certified copy of a decree of divorce granted to Dr. Farmer at Newport, Jackson County, Arkansas, during the past month will be introduced in evidence. The decree was obtained on the allegation that Dr. Farmer denied the story that he obtained the divorce by having another woman pose as his wife, and that the court records show that the woman was not his wife.

Warning notes were printed in the Jackson County Herald, and the doctor's name was given. One of the principal witnesses for Dr. Farmer was E. D. Allison, his partner in business.

Warning notes were printed in the Jackson County Herald, and the doctor's name was given. One of the principal witnesses for Dr. Farmer was E. D. Allison, his partner in business.

He testified, according to his deposition, which is in the hands of Mr. Becker, that he knew the wife, knew about the marriage, knew about the facts of their separation and knew that he had made a trip to see her and her relatives in Missouri and that he had returned to his wife, but that she had refused.

Dr. Farmer produced letters at the trial of the divorce case alleged to have been sent to him by his wife, in which she said that she was not his wife.

Mrs. Allison also testified that relatives of Mrs. Farmer had threatened to kill Farmer.

Attorney Baker will ask the discharge of his client on the ground that the offense of abandonment and wife desertion has been terminated by the divorce and that the wife has been returned to the custody of the husband.

The validity of the divorce cannot be attacked collaterally in the present proceeding.

The wife will have to take steps in the court in which it was granted to have it set aside.

There is a probability of prolonged litigation.

The couple have one child, a girl of 3. Dr. Farmer expressed a willingness to provide for the child either in his or his wife's custody.

ATTORNEY FORGOT HER CASE

Mrs. Mary Baker, who filed suit in the Circuit Court at Belleville Thursday for divorce from Fred Baker, was for 21 years under the impression that she was a divorced woman.

John B. Hay, Mayor of Belleville, filed suit for her then. He had just been elected to office, and turned the case over to his brother.

The parties were displaced, and the case was forgotten. Mrs. Baker thought the divorce had been granted, and assumed her maiden name Sattler.

She is now 76 years old. Recently she asked to be disposed of some of her property. The abstractor told her that she had never been divorced, and that her husband had not died.

The abstractor was found to be right. She called on Mayor Hay and the new application for divorce was filed.

EVANGELOS JANNOPULO FILLS SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

For This and Other Reasons He Prays for Separation and Custody of Their Only Child.

Evangelos Jannopulo, an ice cream merchant, who was fined $5 in the Day Street Police Court Wednesday as the result of his wife's allegation that he tried to carry away from her daughter, Evangelina, filed suit Friday in the Circuit Court for divorce from Mrs. Jannopulo.

His main allegation is that on Tuesday she followed him and his daughter through the streets, creating a disturbance and finally having him arrested and taken to Tenth and North Market streets in a patrol wagon.

The petition recites how Jannopulo was fined Wednesday morning, but says the fine was partly remitted by the court.

Jannopulo asks that the court grant him the custody of the daughter, Evangelina.

According to the petition, Mr. and Mrs. Jannopulo separated the last time July 1, 1900, and since that time they have lived on Warren street and is still there. Jannopulo resides at 206 Washington avenue.

Jannopulo alleges that his wife had left him twice before the last time. The first time was for a few days in December, 1899. The second time, he says, was April 17, 1900.

On that occasion he took her to his home and after having taken the daughter with her.

She brought suit for divorce, making charges which he contends were not true. The suit, he alleges, was dismissed for want of prosecution.

Further charges against Mrs. Jannopulo are that she refused to prepare her husband's meals, compelling him to do it, and that she also neglected the child, leaving her in the hands of a nurse.

It is also alleged that she became intoxicated at times and used bad language. On several occasions, the husband says, she threatened to leave him and take the child with her. He says that he has been married to Mrs. Jannopulo since Dec. 25, 1896, by Justice Walker.

THE NEWLY RICH.

You might think that this little picture was that of a man who had become suddenly rich. Such is not the case. It is one of Howarth's pictures of a man enjoying a brief, a very brief, vacation at a summer resort. That his stay was short was due to the fact that he was not a millionaire.

CHARLES MARTIN OF KANSAS MEETS A HIGHWAYMAN.

FIGHT FOLLOWS IN THE DARK

Thief Took $175 Pin From Shirt and Flew—Captured and Identified Later.

Charles Martin, who until a few months ago was the proprietor of the Red Bird zinc mine at Galena, Kan., and who, with his 3-year-old son, Charles, is stopping at the Moser Hotel, was waylaid and robbed of a diamond pin valued at $175 at 11:45 o'clock Thursday night.

Two hours later Patrolman Massey, acting sergeant, arrested Michael Kelley, who was identified by Martin as the man who had assaulted and robbed him. A warrant alleging highway robbery was issued Friday against Kelley.

Mr. Martin said that two days ago he and his son came to St. Louis to see the sights. Since he has disposed of his mine he has been acting as a tourist.

Thursday night he took a stroll west on Pine, on which street his hotel is located. He was walking on Pine, just west of Twentieth street, when a man sprang from a dark alley and held him by the hands. Mr. Martin was terrified and tried to run, but he was caught.

He entered a saloon and drank a glass of soda water, but nothing stronger. As he left the saloon he noticed a fellow watching him in a peculiar manner, but thought nothing of it.
